

Social Security's Commitment to Americans with Disabilities

Many Americans with disabilities make valuable contributions to the U.S. workforce every day. The Social Security Administration is evaluating the BOND project to help more people return to work and earn more, helping them take steps toward a better quality of life.

BOND is an SSA project.

Helping Americans with Disabilities

The Benefit Offset National Demonstration (BOND) is a project created to help Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) beneficiaries return to work. Through the use of a benefit offset, we are testing a different way to treat SSDI beneficiaries' work and earnings. This offset could help beneficiaries earn more and keep more of their benefits than currently possible.

Earn More. Keep More.

The BOND project helps beneficiaries who earn more keep more of their SSDI benefits. Under current Social Security Disability program rules, people earning more than $12,000 per year (after their Trial Work Period) generally have their benefits stopped. Under the BOND project, benefits will be reduced $1 for every $2 in earnings above $12,000, rather than stopped.
